SCENT TO REMEMBER

WHEN perfumiere Renee Griffith got married three years ago, the scent of tuberose, created for the occasion, filled the air.

Now other brides can have the same sensory experience and share it with guests.

At one of Griffith's stockists, Pooty in Hawthorn, brides-to-be can talk to owner Jill Timms and Griffith about finding the best scent for their big day.

They can choose from five signature scents to wear, have the perfume decanted into 100ml bottles for guests, and organising same-scent candles for the table.

Griffith and Timms will talk about their bridal concept and boutique fragrances at Floral Serenade, Fri-Sun from 10am, Studley Hall, Nolan Ave, Kew. Entry $15. Ph: 9882 2099. $B

DESIGNER DISCOUNTS

FANCY yourself in a designer knit from Sabatini or a sexy dress made by Roger Grinstead at a lower-than-usual price?

Agent Thrift will hold a turn-of-the-season sale at the Saint in St Kilda on Saturday. Winter stock by designers including Simone, White Suede, Astorocry, Zays, Ty & Melita, Eastern Bloc and Arbella Ransay will be for sale at 25 to 75 per cent off the retail price.

Organiser George White says the bargains will start at $20 tops by local label Pip and L. The sale runs from noon to 4pm. $B

CAMP IT UP

CAMPER shoes are on the rise, literally. The Spanish label known for its quirky style are adding heels up to 10cm.

But don't reach for the back-side yet: the company claims the heels are as comfortable as flats. Colour combos include yellow and green (right), brown and pink or pistachio and brown and cost $250. Ph: 9653 7200. AB

WILLOW BARGAINS

STILL on the sale trail — Willow fans might want to head to her sale in South Yarra at the end of the week. The Melbourne designer, who counts Beyonce Knowles among her fans, is clearing the decks with up to 50 per cent off selected designs and one-off samples.

Look out for the hand-twisted silk dresses, head-edged kaftans, sequin tops and Italian cashmere ponchos.

The sale starts at 9am on Friday and continues from 10am Saturday at the Map Building on Oxford St.

With sizes 8-14 and prices from $20 to $1000, there should be something for fans who don't have Beyonce's body or budget. Ph: (02) 9281 7355. AB

BRILL THRILLS

ONE for the cats present file: New York party girl Dianne Brill's Lip Lingerie lip gloss.

The one-time Gaultier muse was in Australia last week promoting her product, which comes in colours such as Camisole Ribbon and Sheer String and a little pink bon fit for a cupcake.

"I designed Lip Lingerie for women to slip on and be kissed in — I'm going to get you kissed," Brill says.

The lip plumping, anti-feathering lip gloss comes in 14 shades, with two new colours on the way; costs $34.50, and is available from Myer and select stores. Ph: (07) 5438 0391.
