Peek inside the beautiful Melbourne home of perfume queen Renée Griffith

After 10 years in the tough world of corporate real estate, Renée Griffith decided it was time to turn her attention to something softer. Now, as the founder and owner of the boutique fragrance brand Renée, her dream has been realised.

Renée studied perfumery by correspondence and travelled extensively in her quest to create her own perfume house. She also draws inspiration from the cool house she shares with her husband Brett... and golden retriever Jackson.

The chic Albert Park home, which is just minutes from Port Phillip Bay, is filled with beautiful pieces Renée has collected on her travels. She has created a haven to work from and a pad that perfectly reflects her passions.

▲ Italian chic

An antique Italian buffet makes a great display table for Renée's gorgeous finds. The urn is from Tuscany, the lamp and leather books from Florence and the jug from St Tropez.

Living well
Renée loves her Italian heritage, and the beautiful paintings and pieces she's collected show this.

Office style
Working from home surrounded by gorgeous candles, fragrances and soaps must be inspiring. Renée has created a clean, simple and stylish office space.

Boudoir heaven
Renée's bedroom is filled with gorgeous things. She loves her Egyptian cotton quilt and pillows. She's also a shoe addict. Here are her favourites, and her stunning Collette Dinnigan wedding dress!

Bathroom beauty
Renée's bathroom looks fab because it's simple. White and cream china bathroom accessories house all the things a girl needs, whilst a vase of flowers picked from Renée's garden gives a fresh feminine touch.

Tuscan dining
Surrounded by gorgeous urns, bowls and books, you feel like you could be dining anywhere in the world. 'I love the vibrant colours of the pieces; they add warmth to a room and remind me of special places I've visited,' she says.

Open spaces
Renée and her husband renovated their home four years ago. They wanted lots of light and space. 'Being by the beach, we wanted our living areas to flow from inside out,' she says.
