

THE CUT beauty

model in a bottle

The world's first so-called supermodel has branched out and lent her name to a new super-fragrance by Parfums Aubusson - Ines de la Fressange. Combining blackcurrant, bergamot, white rose, lily of the valley, and a touch of musk, the floral fragrance has been developed by the master-perfumer Alberto Morillas responsible for fragrances such as Miracle by Lancome, CK One by Calvin Klein and Aqua di Gio pour Homme by Armani. Available exclusively through The Perfume Connection. www.perfumeconnection.com.au

mop's vitamin kick

Mop C-system hair care gives your locks a vitamin kick that defends it from the damaging effects of today's environment. Citrus-infused, the pH balanced formulas don't strip colour or leave residue, instead they promote touchable, lustrous and shiny hair. As with all other mop hair and body products, C-system contains a synthesis of organic plants, herbs and whole food derivatives that 'feed' the hair. Oyster loves the Conditioning mist and styling conditioner. www.mopproducts.com

take the hint

For pretty eyes that hate creases comes Eye Hints from Rosie Jane, a crease resistant collection of cream eyeshadows in three spring shades - Hint of Lavender (a hint of mauve with a shimmer), Buttercup Bronze (a hint of bronzy gold with a buttery texture) and Rain Lily (a hint of mint green). These pliable and long wearing shadows are all naturally based and contain macadamia oil to help maintain moisture around the eye, they can also be blended together for contouring and highlighting. www.rosiejane cosmetics.com

anglomaniac

Our lady of fashion, Vivienne Westwood, has turned heads once again, this time with a brave new fragrance - Anglomania. Her recent couture collections have explored a variety of cultures, and this fragrance follows the theme with Asian intensity marrying British heritage. Composed by Dominique Ropion of IFF, Anglomania blends Asian influences with roses redolent of English gardens in a floral oriental harmony. Cardamom and Coriander mingle with Green Tea, Rose Otto, Violet, Nutmeg and Vanilla to create a fragrance with unmistakable Vivienne Westwood flair. Available exclusively at Myer stores in Australia.

signature scents

"A passion for fragrance and a love of travel made me realise that the notion of a boutique perfumery simply did not exist here in Australia," says Renee Griffith, founder of Renee, a range of boutique fragrance products. At 28, Griffith left her real estate career behind to explore the art of perfumery, and hasn't looked back. With a range including perfume, soap and body lotion, there is something for anyone who knows a good thing when they smell it. Oyster loves the scented candles that sweeten any space. www.renee.com.au
